The D-7x, one of the last variants of the D-7 to be produced at the homeworld, incorporated the devastatingly powerful KP-11 torpedo system, giving the D-7x the equivalent firepower of vessels twice it's size. It is believed that 100 were produced, with a further 300 or more converted from other models. 4 have been captured, 23 have been destroyed, and 17 have been scrapped. 62 are in reserve fleets with 298 converted to other variants.
